The maximum occupancy doesn't include an infant able to sleep in a portable crib. Some of the resorts may charge a small nightly fee for refrigerators and as the policy has changed in the past, it will be necessary to check with the individual resort for the most up to date information regarding this.

Every Walt Disney World resort includes the following:

- At least one restaurant (in some cases several) or a food court
- Access to the Walt Disney World transportation system
- A Pool (in some cases more than 1, in some cases a separate toddler pool)
- At least 1 gift shop (some feature a convenience store as well)
- Playgrounds or play areas, though most are generally quite small no matter how large the resort
- An arcade
- An in-room refrigerator (though select resorts offer them only upon request, and select resorts offer them upon request and at an additional nightly fee)

- Guest laundry facilities (vacation club villas feature in room washers and dryers while the remaining resorts offer centralized laundry facilities for a small fee)
- Dry cleaning
- An in room safe
- A hair dryer (some resorts feature them already in the room, others only on request)
- A data port
- High speed internet access (for a fee) will, by the end of 2006, be available in all resorts (select resorts offer limited WiFi access)
- An iron and ironing board
- Portable crib (though some resorts only offer them upon request and availability is limited)
